CONGRESSIONAL RECORD VOTE CORRECTIONS

The following are corrections in the official outcome of votes taken during the second session of the 102nd Congress.

The lists are subdivided into "Vote Corrections" and "Stand or Announcement Changes." The former may involve adjustment of the "Yea's" and "Nays" in the breakdown on Congressional Quarterly vote charts; the latter do not affect the breakdown.

Congressional Record "Stand or Announcement Changes" listed below were inserted in the Record too late for CQ to include on current Weekly Report vote charts; Weekly Report pages where these votes may be found are indicated so that you may bring your Weekly Report file into conformity with the Record.

Symbols used in these vote corrections:

Y - Yea	— - Announced For
N - Nay	— - Announced Against
? - Absent	# - Paired For
C - Voted "Present" to	X - Paired Against
avoid possible conflict	P - Voted "Present"

From Washington State to Washington, D.C. –

If it's an emerging political issue, it's in CQ's U.S. Press.

Until recently, the only way you could do a nationwide search on the latest political issues was to wade through a dozen newspapers or trust your luck to a news clipping service.

The result? Repetitious news clips, ink-covered fingers and, once in a while, the nagging fear that somehow you'd missed something important.

Now there's an effective alternative to collecting congressional and political articles. It's called U.S. Press, and it's the latest database to be added to Washington Alert – the premier online tracking service of Congress from Congressional Quarterly.

The obvious choice

Every day, U.S. Press culls 15 major U.S. newspapers, enlarging the U.S. Press database by an average of 150 articles each day that focus on Congress and national political news. U.S. Press is also fully searchable with archived stories dating back to July 1, 1992.

By itself, U.S. Press is a powerful tool. Combined with the other new databases Euronews, StateTrack™ and The CQ Researcher, Washington Alert is downright indispensable – and at a time when political news is making headlines thick and fast. Find out more. Call David Stevens at (202) 887-6366 for information today.

We'd like to say
"thanks" to you, our readers.

Because it's just as nice to hear we're #1
the second time around.

According to an independent opinion leader survey conducted by Erdos & Morgan in October 1992, Congressional Quarterly Weekly Report was shown to be the #1 magazine reaching congressional opinion leaders.

A similar survey by Erdos & Morgan in 1990 came to the same conclusion.

In truth, history is not only repeated here, it is being made. Because in the October 1992 survey, Congressional Quarterly Weekly Report was proven not only to be strong in the congressional branch, but in the executive branch as well.

The survey concluded that of the three leading federal legislative publications, Congressional Quarterly Weekly Report is #1 in reaching executive branch opinion leaders.

And among executive branch opinion leaders, no other magazine is held in such high regard for its influence and objectivity as Congressional Quarterly Weekly Report.

So, thanks to our reporters, editors and researchers. And thanks, too, to you, our readers.

less than half the money was spent on actual campaign expenses...
Find out how campaign funds are really spent...*

Political candidates spend most of their campaign contributions on expensive television advertising. Right? Wrong.

By charting how every campaign dollar was spent in the 1990 congressional elections, Handbook of Campaign Spending—a new book from CQ—shatters many popular myths concerning campaign spending by providing new information and analysis that is simply unavailable elsewhere. Its findings are of interest to every political profes-cars, tuxedos, club memberships and personal travel.

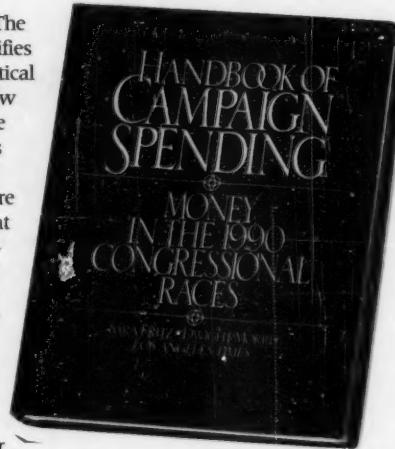

In chapters such as "A Personal Slush Fund," "Television: At What Cost?," and "Individual Donors: Money by the Bundle," the Handbook looks at the various ways individual contributors circumvent contribution limits and puts dollar figures on the funding problems of congressional challengers. The book also identifies the top 100 political consultants, how much they were paid and details top candidate spenders in more than 20 different categories ranging from "who spent the most on fundraising" to "who spent the most on Christmas cards."

Research gathered for this book by Los Angeles Times reporters Sara Fritz and Dwight Morris reveal that House incumbents spent a surprising 65% of their 1990 election funds on items that have little to do with direct appeals to voters—and not just overhead costs, but new

Over of particular interest to political professionals (and not only in an election year) is the race-by-race analysis provided of the 1990 elections, showing exactly where the money was spent.

Sara Fritz and Dwight Morris, both reporters for the Los Angeles Times, developed a unique computer database consisting of every expenditure made by House and Senate candidates during the 1990 elections as background for a series of articles that appeared in the Times that year. This database, together with an analysis of the numbers and narrative accounts of each race, form the heart of Handbook of Campaign Spending: Money in the 1990 Congressional Races.
